On Labor Day the neighborhood had a picnic at the swimming pool. There were about 15 families from our street and the next one over. So we met a lot of our neighbors. (We just landed in Charlotte.) The neighborhood is full of kids around Timmie's age. He is really having a time though, he says he likes Montgomery better. I think he is just talking though.

We have a little time here so I think I will get off & stretch my legs a little.

Phoned a friend of mine & talked with him a while and found out that another good friend of mine is now living in Greenville. So we will look him up when ~~we~~ I get back.
