her a little spoon
and fork. Irene gave her a little ear, and Jay, Cassie's grand son, gave her two little cars.

She got her little telephone that J. T. sent and sat down in the floor and put it up to her ear and
of all the jabbering
you ever heard she did it.

That is all I can think of so I'll close maybe, I'll think of something else in the morning.

O lots of love
Sweetie,
