

The plant is coming along. All of the brick walls are up, practically all the steel is in place and the roof deck is mostly in place. The roofers should be through by Labor Day so probably I will start moving machinery from Baltimore soon after Labor Day.

Pop, I honestly feel that I have the best job I have ever had. I really like what I am doing and the men I am associated with are fine people. Mount Vernon is a good Company. So you see, that scripture, "All things work together for the good of those who love the Lord," still works. Sometimes I wonder why he is so good to us when we are so forgetful of Him.

Had to stop while we took off. I never cease to be amazed at how beautiful the ground is here.
