

and said there was a thunderstorm over the airport and we will circle around for 5-10 min. until it moves on out of the way.

There is a big lake here. I understand it reaches all the way from Anderson up to Clemson S.C. Sure is pretty. See some small white-caps on the water.

Some black cows down there look like flits. You can see every shade of green you can imagine. There is ~~some~~ field that is almost yellow, but still green.

The captain's 10 min. are sort of long we are still circling. Don't look like that thunder cloud wants to move.

The trip up into New England was real good. We spent a night and day at Camden, Maine. It is a small town on the coast, and one of the cleanest and prettiest little towns I have ever seen.

The day I spent in the mill there was very beneficial and will help me a lot when we get one of ~~our new machines.~~

FINALLY ON GROUND - 50 MIN FOR WHAT SHOULD HAVE TAKEN 20 MIN. RAINING. OUT OF PAPER.
