

HOTEL CARAVELLE
SAIGON

at Kohat. Worked Monday afternoon in the mill + spent the second night at the "Rest" house. Worked in the mill until about 3:00 and then drove through the mountains (and I mean mountain roads) to Peshawar. Stopped and took a picture of the base where Geo. was stationed. Tried to find a post card to send Geo. but couldn't even find one. Left Peshawar by plane and arrived back in Karachi at midnight. Wed. morning met again with the big man of the Berrewala mill and found that we had done a good job with the mill people. The "big man" asked me to visit his ~~mill~~ other mill there in Karachi, so I had to walk through another mill after I got through with the police. The night before, I was checking my pass-port and found I was supposed to have left Pakistan on the 22nd and then it was the 27th and I wasn't leaving until the 28th. I went to Pan Am and asked what to do. They suggested I see the American Embassy. They in turn told me to go to the Police and pray that they would extend the visa. After about 20 minutes the young boy finally extended it and lectured me about not letting it happen again.